BLAINE ON TRUSTS.

The Maine Statesman Opens His Indiana Canvass.

Speaks to an Immense Gathering at Goshen.

Says Trusts Connected with the Democratic Party.

Shows the Insincerity of Cleveland on the Subject.

Blaine in Indiana.

GOSHEN, Ind., October 10.—About ten thousand people gathered here to day to listen to the address by J. G. Blaine. When he appeared there was an outburst of cheering which lasted for several minutes. Mr. Blaine spoke as follows:

CHAIRMAN AND FELLOW CITIZENS:—"Stop thief" is a cry not confined to the criminal classes. Every part of the country, every department of trade, and in especially notable degree the present course of the democratic party, respecting "trusts." In the month of last December in the country of the development of trusts, and argued therefrom the offspring and result of protective system established by the republican party. At the same time, there is in the wide sweep of his argument almost every industrial interest of the country, the president was for free trade to be stayed respecting the tariff on sugar. Out of the revenue collected on importations of sugar during the last year, over $56,000,000 was on sugar alone, which is equivalent to more than one fourth of the entire revenue for the year. When Mr. Cleveland framed his message he knew that the largest trusts ever organized in the world, the sugar trust, was in full operation and that if the protective system was helpful to that trust he was equally the aid, both official and personal, in his power.

Mr. Cleveland was almost the only person in the United States who did not know that the sugar trust received its existence from the McKinley bill. That bill was under consideration by congress for months, and every resident of the sugar trust knew, as well known, active democrats in New York, appeared before the ways and means committee, and secured the insertion in the bill of the provisions which created the trust. Mr. Cleveland, however, that whatever may be the necessities of life in any way controlled by an association or trust for the purpose of keeping down production, you will find supporters of free trade heard in the democratic party. Trusts may be counted a luxury, but they do exist with us, and will be the principal necessities of life. Now that a trust exists in this country, and the man who is now at the head of it and openly and avowedly manages its affairs is Wellington R. [illegible] democratic candidate for governor of Michigan. Mr. Burt is [illegible] advocating the removal of all duties on sugar. This would be another confiscation of the president's words, that protection is the first cause of trusts, and if like was fully justified in plundering this country that it may be more freely in a free trade than in a protective country.

Gentlemen, these are the only two democratic states. There is another trust [illegible] political influence, perhaps both of them. I refer to the sugar trust, which has [illegible] duties on the products and policy of the democratic party for years. After the war [illegible] strength of the democracy in the south, was for the [illegible] of the internal revenue system, and last the outrageous tax on [illegible] They denounced [illegible] which we free men admit in time of peace. Free trade north and south, soon saw the internal revenue system were the country would necessarily for its revenue upon the customs had done for more than a generation, the war, and that if the case it would be difficult if [illegible] to destroy the doctrine of [illegible] sounded Cleveland. They rapidly changed their ground, keeping up the internal revenue and breaking down the protective tariff. The whiskey trust men financially and political importance.

Democrats who declare that [illegible] the able, upright and experienced speaker of the house of representatives was driven from the chair and Carlisle of Kentucky, made his [illegible] democratic caucus controlled the whiskey trust and acting under the whip and spur of its agents. [illegible] reporter would in Randall's political friends on [illegible] and then ask also how [illegible] the whiskey trust is running the democratic canvass this year, at the same time he might ask [illegible] money into the amount contributed by the sugar trust and also by [illegible] trust.

[illegible] exhausted the list of trusts [illegible] the democratic party has a [illegible] interest. Unless in every new [illegible] movement is at fault the democratic party has [illegible] and large contributions from the stockholders in the [illegible] trust at every critical election in the last five years and are [illegible] during the gracious continuance [illegible] in the pending 'national campaign.' The [illegible] was this that the [illegible] memorialized the senate of the United States to cause an inquiry into the alleged corruption in the last democratic victory in that state. Then was the [illegible] democratic senators to make [illegible] into trusts. One of the [illegible] was before the senate [illegible] ultimately, and you [illegible] finally the democratic party [illegible] the task.

[illegible] Cleveland had been as [illegible] the great trusts [illegible] them all in his [illegible] opportunity was there but [illegible] at fault the social [illegible] of the administration were [illegible] can senators to secure [illegible] to help the democrats to [illegible] unanimous demo- [illegible] investigation of [illegible] trusts I have named [illegible] controlled trust which is [illegible] both democrats and [illegible] used to aid the democratic [illegible] They do not apply their [illegible]

[illegible] Finally on the subject of trusts let me say that [illegible] democratic party [illegible] to be found in [illegible] Now I find that [illegible] Democratic party by Benjamin Harrison [illegible] candidate for president which [illegible] Democratic party [illegible] who is Blaine pulled from the platform.

[illegible] Blaine and [illegible] for the campaign.

Reception at Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, October 10.—Blaine and party arrived at 11:30 to-night. A crowd of two or three thousand were waiting at the depot to welcome the late hour. When Blaine alighted, accompanied by General Alger and Russell Harrison, the crowd cheered and he raised his hat. He shook hands with several hundred people who had obtained entrance through the iron gates and then came to hand. A few cars were reserved in the division to the mayor, governor, [illegible] waiting. Blaine and his son, with Russell Harrison, were driven direct to General Harrison's home, arriving about midnight. General Harrison welcomed his guests at the door.

Civil Service Reform.

WASHINGTON, October 10.—Senator Hale to-day submitted to the senate a report before the special committee to examine [illegible] service. The report makes a printed document of fifty pages. It discusses elaborately testimony taken in New York, Pennsylvania and elsewhere and concludes with the following general summary: "Investigations made by the committee and the facts therein brought forth establish these things beyond controversy.

First—That partisan changes have been made in federal offices in a wholesale way under no pretense that the good of the public service demanded such changes in most marked instances, as in Philadelphia, Baltimore, Indianapolis and New York, these changes have been followed by scandal in the public service, which has been rendered less efficient by reason of the changes.

Second—That federal officials throughout the country, contrary to the direction of the president as found in his letter of July 14th, 1888—have freely and openly participated in political conventions and primary elections, even using their official influence. In Pennsylvania the entire machinery of the federal service was put in operation for the purpose of controlling democratic organizations in the state in the interest of the administration, forces as against the friends of Randall. State conventions were dominated and controlled by federal officials and the chairmanship of the state committee secured and office bestowed by the administration on members of the committee who changed their allegiance from Randall to the president. In no case does the committee find that any federal officer has been disciplined for such interference in politics, but on the other hand such interference has been repeatedly recognized and rewarded. This interference in some cases, notably at Binghamton, N. Y., was most offensive to the people and amounted to a conspiracy to thwart and defeat the popular will.

Third—That the system of levying tolls and assessments upon federal office holders for political purposes has continued without interruption since the administration came into place. The committee is persuaded that at present throughout the country office holders are being systematically assessed and called upon to contribute from their salaries to swell the campaign funds of the democratic party.

While these statements so generally made and responded to are in violation of repeated declarations of the president and of the fundamental principles of civil service reform, the committee had [illegible] witnesses exhibiting the conduct of their subordinates for violation of the policy announced by the president. In view of the fact that that policy has been departed from and grossly violated by the president and members of his cabinet in their alleged and uncontradicted subscriptions of large sums to the democratic national committee, it is not to be expected that subordinates will feel justified in considering as sincere the declarations of a policy which are so palpably ignored by their author, and the fact that the president of the United States in a campaign in which he has so great a personal interest contributes notoriously one fifth of his year's salary for political use is fairly to be taken by those who depend upon him for their tenure of office as not simply an invitation but a command to do likewise. While perhaps not strictly the functions of this committee, it may not be improper for it to commend to consideration of the legal advisers of the president an inquiry whether such subscriptions as made were not in direct violation of the following provisions. (The provisions of law are here cited.) All these things are contrary to pledges repeatedly made by the president, both before and since his election in his letters and messages and well authenticated interviews.

The report here makes quotations from the first letter of acceptance of President Cleveland from his letter of December 7, 1885, to Hon. Geo. William Curtis, from his inaugural address, from his letter of September 11, 1886, to Civil Service Commissioner Eaton, commentary of the spoils system and commending the principles and views on civil service reform. It says investigations made by the committee show the condition of affairs as democratically opposed to what the president has proposed as it would be possible to imagine. To show how the promises have been kept the committee quotes the concluding paragraphs of the Civil Service Reform association of Indiana composed largely of gentlemen who supported president in 1884, commenting on which the committee says: The committee can appreciate the condition of mind in which the gentlemen of Indiana must have been when confronted with facts brought out by their investigations many of which have been also established before this committee.

The Swiss Plot.

BERLIN, October 10.—Munich Nachrichten confirms the report that Swiss anarchists struck [illegible] to make an attempt upon the life of Emperor William at Wurtemburg and that great precautions were taken to protect the emperor the route of the imperial train having been changed.

THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

Serious Conflicts of Strikers and Police Take Place.

Another Struggle to Maintain Order in Prospect.

Mayor Roche Acting as Mediator in the Difficulty.

All Efforts to Bring About a Compromise Fail.

The Chicago Strike.

CHICAGO, October 10.—The strike of street car men in this city and west [illegible] assumes continuous with no indication of settlement. During the night several of the tracks in various parts of the north division were obstructed by being piled with all sorts of [illegible] refuse and such other [illegible] as came to hand. A few cars were run in this division to the [illegible] but in front of [illegible] No attempt has been made as yet to run cars on the west division. Appearances indicate that the company will not make any renewed effort for resumption of traffic this morning, have quieted down somewhat. Strikers in this division, who have been through two or three successful strikes exhibit an uglier disposition than those of the north. They declare that cars will not be permitted to run, and that if an attempt is made they will be turned into the ditch.

Tracks on Center street, on the north division presented a peculiar sight this morning. For a mile or more they were covered with paving stones, and every other kind of debris obtainable. This was done during the night. This morning men and boys were again at work on Center street near Orchard—under the very noses of the police. Cobble stones were piled on the tracks. The officers merely looked at the work of barricading. At Halsted and Center streets four rails were torn up and laid cross wise of the track. The same thing was done at Clark and Sedgwick streets. The company put a force of fifty laborers on the streets, cleared away the debris and relaid the tracks. The cars were run out and made a trip down town without being interfered with, but on the return trip the Center street line was found obstructed it was decided to go up Clybourne avenue. In anticipation of a renewal of trouble a large force of new men was sworn in this morning as special officers.

CHICAGO, October 10.—The first trouble of the day on the west side occurred this afternoon when a car was pulled from the barns, when it came out of the car yesterday, drove out of the Western avenue barns. The strikers stopped him but a shot from his revolver scattered them. Three times he was stopped and only succeeded in getting by by unloading on a lively fusilade. Nobody was hurt.

CHICAGO, October 10.—An attempt to run a car on the west side this afternoon resulted in a severe riot. As the car was pulled out of the Western avenue barns, guarded by half a dozen policemen headed by Captain Aldrich the crowd stood twenty deep on both sides of the car and the police were arranged [illegible] inside of these walls of frantic men. A stone crashed through a window before the car had proceeded twenty feet. In a second shower of stones a brick struck the driver on the temple. Captain Aldrich was hit and his scalp cut open. The car advanced to the intersection of Madison street and the rioter caught a striker in the act of throwing a stone. The man was arrested, but in less than a minute 100 strikers had piled on the policeman and rescued the prisoner. The car soon turned the corner and started down Madison street. The infuriated mob followed throwing stones. At Leonard street the mob rushed out to the street and boarded the car, attempting to drag the driver from his position. Patrol wagons brought loads of policemen both in front and in behind the car. They dismounted and charged on the crowd. This time the maddened strikers held their own and threw stones at the policemen. One man struck Lieutenant Shea, and the officer pulling his revolver fired but his bullet missed and the strikers scattered in every direction.

A conference took place in the mayor's office this afternoon which was attended by his honor and committees of the strikers of the north and west divisions. It lasted six hours. It is understood they had made certain concessions based on the contingency of the probable approval of their associations and acceptance of President Yerkes. Superintendent Taylor was taken to convene immediately a general meeting of the strikers.

CHICAGO, October 10.—Just before midnight President Yerkes entered the mayor's office and a few moments later a committee of twenty one representing all the strikers, appeared and were admitted. The committee was armed with full power to settle the strike. The authority had been conferred upon them by a general meeting of strikers which went into session after the early conference with the mayor was ended. It was thought at midnight on that quarters that the strike would be at an end before noon by the chief agent in bringing it about being the threat of a general strike on the entire lines in the cities of the east.

CHICAGO, October 11.—It was in the small hours when the conference adjourned. There had been no agreement and the night's work was fruitless. The report that President Yerkes had gone to the mayor's office at midnight was erroneous. Mayor Roche before the midnight conference had spent several hours with Mr. Yerkes at the Union

RAILROAD HORROR.

Most Awful Disaster in the History of Pennsylvania.

Passenger Trains Collide on the Lehigh Valley Road.

The Number of Killed Estimated as High as Eighty.

Fall of a Stage at Quincy, Ill., Injures Many People.

A Terrible Railroad Accident.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., October 10.—Information was received this city at midnight of a terrible accident that occurred on the Lehigh Valley railroad at Mud Run, the first station above Penn Haven. A grand parade of Catholic societies took place at Hazelton to-day and a large excursion was run from Wilkesbarre for the occasion, and from all the towns and [illegible] from Wilkesbarre, Nanticoke and other points along the line. The excursion train was run in two sections, and upon their return trip to make the first section ran into the forward section at Mud Run, about 9 o'clock, with disastrous results. Several cars of the forward section were telescoped and forty persons were killed outright and about an equal number injured many of them probably fatally. The late hour at which the accident occurred, the remote and isolated locality of the scene and the rustic nature of the railroad people combine to render obtaining details extremely difficult. It is impossible to ascertain the names or residences of any of the victims, but their number is stated above with approximate accuracy.

WILKESBARRE, October 11.—The accident on the Lehigh valley road at Mud Run, Penn Haven Junction, is the all question the most awful disaster that ever happened in this portion of the state. Though no details can be learned there is no doubt that the number of killed will reach nearly eighty, and the injured nearly double that number. The trains were excursion trains returning from the celebration at Hazelton of the annual parade of Catholic temperance societies of the Scranton diocese. Thousands of people will come down to Hazelton from the towns of Luzerne and Lackawanna counties. Seven trains, with each filled to the doors, passed through White Haven this morning, taking the old route by Penn Haven.

On the return the first train left Hazelton [illegible] ing as rapidly as was deemed safe. The next three sections came through without accident, the disaster happening to the fourth and fifth sections. For some reason not explained, the fourth section was standing on the track near the little station of Mud Run, five miles below White Haven, when the fifth section shot around the curve close behind and crashed into it. Cars were smashed and broken and hurled off the track.

The road lies close beside the Lehigh river, a steep embankment sixty feet high running down to the water. Several of the cars rolled down this, and others were crushed against the cutting on the other side. Up to this writing (12:30 a. m.) [illegible] received from the scene of the disaster, and railroad officials here if they know anything about it refuse to give any information.

At 1 o'clock this morning reports about the accident are still very conflicting. It is known however from dispatches received at the depot that the accident is quite as bad as at first reported and that at least thirty or more are killed. Nothing official can be obtained from the company's office, which is closed to reporters and others. One train has been started from the wreck, and it is expected to arrive here about 4 o'clock this morning. Most of the injured are said to be from Scranton and Lackawanna counties.

WILKESBARRE, October 11.—Arrangements have been made to admit the injured to the Wilkesbarre hospital. It is impossible to get details until the first section of the train comes, which will not be until 3 o'clock or later. The train is carrying the wounded.

Collapse of a Grand Stand.

QUINCY, Ill., October 10.—The fire works grand stand, containing 4,000 people, collapsed this evening. Many persons were injured.

The number of persons hurt will reach 150, some of whom will die. An annual festival known as the merchants' display was the occasion for the gathering.

QUINCY, October 10.—There were probably nearly 6,000 persons on the grand stand to witness the fireworks exhibition. Scarcely had the first rocket been thrown the supports of the west end of the structure gave way and seat [illegible] feet of seats collapsed. Electric lights went out and darkness was added to the horrors of the scene. Fully 500 persons were injured, but 150 will cover all who are at all seriously wounded.

Thurman Recalled.

WASHINGTON, October 10.—Neither the president nor Judge Thurman came in town to-day, and they will remain at Oak View to-night. Judge Thurman has received a telegram this morning calling him home on account of legal business demanding his attention and will probably leave to-morrow morning.

Collision at Sea.

NEW YORK, October 10.—The Anchor line steamer Queen, which arrived this from England, is reported to have collided with the Italian schooner Maria, on the 27th instant. The collision occurred [illegible] Friday during a fog. [illegible] struck the Maria amidships, cutting her in two, sinking her instantly. The captain, his son and second mate, and Steward on the Maria were picked up after they had been in the water nearly an hour. The rest of the crew, number twenty were lost. The Queen lost her bowsprit and foremast. The Maria was a French [illegible] schooner.

New York Politics.

NEW YORK, October 10.—The United party further complicated the mayoralty problem by placing another candidate in the field to-night—James G. Cassidy. While these nominations were [illegible], the Henry D. Purroy association of democrats further involved matters by deciding to nominate a full county ticket next Thursday night.

The Fight Was a Fake.

DAVIS, N. J., October 10.—The fight for the championship between Jack McAuliffe and Billy Dacey for the Police Gazette diamond belt took place this morning in a barn. After eleven fierce desperate rounds, lasting 12 minutes and 40 seconds, McAuliffe knocked his man out by a terrific left hander on the stomach and a right-handed blow on the ear, thus winning the battle. Dacey was completely [illegible] from the start, but made a fair showing. McAuliffe gained first blood in the second round by one of his terrific left handed smashers on Dacey's nose. He did most of the leading, and his repeated rushes were too much for Dacey to stop. He repeatedly sent his left at Dacey's face with terrible force, the latter ducking in a vain attempt to get away. McAuliffe would then uppercut him unmercifully. Dacey landed some [illegible] on McAuliffe's jaw, and in the sixth round the crimson was trickling from McAuliffe's nose from the visitations of Dacey's left. Not more than fifty of the most select sporting men witnessed the contest.

[illegible] of the State.

PHILADELPHIA, October 10.—The Interstate Land Co., the claimants of the so called Beale grant, including parts of Colorado, New Mexico and Texas, is now holding [illegible] in this city. There are present Chas. Goodnight of Clarendon, Texas; Dr. M. Beshoar of Trinidad, F. E. Nettleton of Kansas City, Alex. Evans of Lexington, Mo., J. F. Hadley of Kansas City, V. S. Carney of Leavenworth, and others. This Beale grant is understood to be a mythical claim never confirmed by congress, and vastly extravagant in its pretensions. It includes the famous [illegible] and all the territory to the Arkansas river, and much more. Curators of Trinidad discuss the matter as a great humbug. The Inter State company have published to the people that it will not interfere with any existing titles. The Daily Citizen here has on its war paint against the gang, while the Daily Advertiser, owned by Dr. Beshoar, treats the combination with marked kindness.

An Escaped Arsonist.

ATCHISON, Kans., October 10.—A ripple of excitement was created by the discovery that Geo. W. Ocker, eight years ago an attorney at the Atchison bar and who has been the right to be dead since that time, is alive and well in Colorado, enjoying a lucrative law practice under his right name. In the fall of 1880 Ocker disappeared. His young wife was nearly crazed [illegible] she could not institute a vigorous search. In January 1881, the mangled remains of a man were found near the village of Monrovia on the central branch of the Union Pacific and identified as those of Ocker. Indue time the supposed widow was wooed and won by a well to do farmer of Nemaha county, whom she married, and has borne several children. Now comes the blight that she was a wife when her second husband married her.

The Times' Wit.

DUBLIN, October 10.—The Freeman's Journal states that London Times has subpœnaed Timothy Harrington to produce the minutes, cash, banking, letter and check books and ledgers of the National League, Ladies National League and the Labor and Industrial union from 1879 to '88, for examination in the libel suit brought against the Times by Parnell that the Times will subpœna Mrs. Parnell, McCarthy, Biggar, Campbell Sexton, Nolan, Quint, Cox, Kenny and T. P. O'Connor for the defense.

Western Union Meeting.

NEW YORK, October 10.—The annual meeting of the Western Union Telegraph company was held to-day. The only change in the board of directors was the substitution of Henry M. Flagler for A. R. Von Nest. The report for the year ending June 30th, 1888, showing gross earnings $19,711,161, expenses $14,646,592, net earnings $5,070,541, payments on dividend, interest and sink fund account $4,744,278, surplus $198,266.

Gift Enterprise.

CHICAGO, October 10.—John T. Cutting, general manager of the California Head Fruit association is in the city for the purpose of arranging with dealers here for the sale of California dried fruits by auction on the same plan pursued this season with green fruits. He says from his talk so far he believes the movement will be successful. He intends to establish agencies in New York and Boston also.

At the meeting of the B F Crowell Hose company last night the following officers were elected for the next six months: A B Brehm, foreman, H D Johnson first assistant, Joseph Canyon second assistant, Harry Moon, secretary and treasurer. After the meeting the members of the company repaired to Ericson & Gough's restaurant and enjoyed a nice lunch.

The Grand Lodge of colored Masons A F & A M, of Colorado Wyoming and New Mexico is in session all day yesterday. Among the business transacted was the reading of the grand officers address which was referred to a committee. The matter of building a Masonic temple as well as providing a fund for the relief of the orphans and widows of the order was also considered and referred to a committee.

Robey's feed store a quantity of hay, stables, many of them of mammoth size and as fine specimens as can be seen at county fairs in the agricultural states. They were raised on the farm of Mr B F Seymour, three and a half miles south of Fountain on the county. They were raised entirely without irrigation, and are the best evidence of what Colorado can do unirrigable.

The grand conclave of the Knights Templar of Colorado will meet in Denver on Monday next. On Tuesday the grand lodge I O O F will meet and on Wednesday there will be a grand parade of the Knights Templar. The launching of the new steel cruiser Baltimore at Philadelphia a few days ago affords another creditable record in our new navy. Some of us may yet live to see a navy worthy of the United States.

The Republican territorial convention of Wyoming which met yesterday in Cheyenne nominated Hon. J. M. Carey to succeed himself as delegate to the house of representatives. Judge Carey has ably represented his territory in the Fiftieth congress and his renomination is a well merited recognition of his services.

A New York Tribune reporter, who has been engaged for the past few weeks in ascertaining the sentiments of New York clergymen of both parties with regard to the candidacy of Hill for governor, has just submitted his report. While many of the clergy for obvious reasons prefer not to go into any discussion on the subject, they are almost unanimous in their opposition to the re-election of a man who has shown himself so utterly opposed to everything that tends to a better moral sentiment in the commonwealth of which he is the chief executive. There is much to be said against the clergyman in politics, but there may be cases where their influence is as urgently needed in politics as anywhere else, and such is the case in New York to-day.

The claim which is now being made by the democratic campaign managers, that the Beach circular, referring to the removal of "republican women and children" employed in the war department was unauthorized by Secretary Endicott, is not only silly but idiotic. Secretary Endicott is the head of the war department and directly responsible for every action of that department, and the claim that he is not might with an equal amount of sense be applied to a night watchman who sleeps at his post while burglars roll him of his change. That the Beach circular was issued and that it was in direct defiance of the civil service laws, and a disgrace to the war department, is a confirmation of what we and other papers have said for which there is no reasonable excuse. Let the democrats "grin and bear it."

Some of the democratic papers of the state still continue to make charges against the honesty of the republican candidate for governor in his administration of the Robinson estate. In all cases the papers making these charges have some so far as to say that Mrs. Robinson the heir never received anything from the estate but "worthless land" and "old notes on the east." Inasmuch as the final settlement of the estate of Mrs. Robinson, the heir, and the receipt of the heir for the money and property received from the estate, are on record in the probate court of El Paso county, and Mr. Cooper's defamers were not afraid with making the general statement, it would not take the trouble to refute the charges which every fair minded person would know to be false. The Sunday Republican represents the Denver Herald as saying that the statement of the administration and found that Mrs. Robinson had received about $400 in cash. Not only this, but Judge Gitchell, a life long democrat in whose court the estate was administered, has complimented the able and satisfactory manner in which it was done. A conference of personal friends of Mrs. Robinson in which the facts in the case were fully discussed, and the charges made against Mr. Cooper's management of the estate were shown to be false, and the heir herself has declared that she received from the estate all that was coming to her, and that she is entirely satisfied with the manner in which Mr. Cooper managed the estate. Mr. Cooper's record as an honest man and a gentleman is above reproach, and the attempt to make political capital out of the matter will only react on those who are engaged in it.
